SOUND PRAISES AT C. E. CONVENTION'S FINAL SESSION

Thanks Expressed To All
Who Aided; Fund Is Raised
To Sum Of $10,000

By R. D. KNICKERBOCKER
Glendale's first convention came to a close last night when the final session of the Christian Endeavor was held at the auditorium. The work of tearing down the big meeting place began this morning, the flags and decorations are being removed, and in a few days the city will settle to normal with the big gathering but a bright memory of the past. That the initial step in this direction was a great success goes without saying, and if the many expressions of appreciation voiced by our visitors may be taken as a criterion, Glendale may, indeed, feel proud of the efficient manner in which it handled this event.

In addition to the usual resolution of thanks of the resolution committee, a special statement of appreciation was made by Paul Brown, field secretary, in presenting the Glendale C. E. committee to the delegates last night.

"In the twenty-one years that I have attended the annual C. E. gatherings I have never yet met a committee that was so thoroughly ready, and so thoroughly pleasant and efficient in meeting the many problems that daily confront such a body, as this crowd now standing before you," declared Mr. Brown amidst the hearty and prolonged applause of the delegates. Each member of the committee was introduced to the gathering.

Officers Are Installed

Next to Long Beach, this convention was the largest in the history of the society, according to Lowell Donnell, in charge of the registration, who reported that the total registration was 4458. The first prize for attendance went to the Presbyterians, with an attendance of 1262.

Dr. Ira Landrith officiated at the installation of officers and again delivered the address of the night. In a stirring speech he commended the Christian Endeavor for its past work in moulding the character of the youth of the nation and urged greater effort in this direction.

"It is between the ages of 10 and 25 that the greater part of our character is made. It is practically a foregone conclusion that as you mould yourself in this period, so you will be for the rest of your days on this earth," he declared.

"Don't let yourself be influenced in this formative age by the desire to live only for money, and, above all, don't let your thoughts dwell exclusively upon that small part of the community known as the '400'—so-called if you please,—that cuts their vests halfway down their bodies and shape their coats into the form of a long tail, so that the rest of us may know just how closely related to those ancestors who, according to Darwin, we are all descendants.

Fight for Your Beliefs

"If you want to win in life's battle, go out and fight for your beliefs, fight for your belief in a decent home, a decent America and a decent world," were the concluding words of Dr. Landrith.

Paul Brown, stating that they wished to bring the $7500 secured at Tuesday's meeting up to $10,000, started a short intensive money-raising drive to secure this amount. Needless to say, it was soon raised by contributions ranging from $5 to $25.

Following the installation of the newly-elected officers, a handsome gold pin of C. E. design, with the words "Ex-President" inscribed, was presented to retiring president, B. Irvin Valentine.

The usual singing, with Otis Ironmonger putting as much vim and vigor into his leading as on the opening session; the usual yells and songs of the various unions; the usual good-byes and reminders to write, and the big convention was over with a tired but happy crowd of young folks preparing for today's exodus.

President Of C. E. Thanks Evening News For Its Good Work

By REESE MARTIN
President of Christian Endeavor
At this time I desire to thank The Glendale Evening News for the fair and efficient manner in which it has handled the events of the Thirty-fourth Annual Convention of the California Christian Endeavor union.

It has been a matter of marked comment amongst the officers of this convention that The Glendale Evening News has reported the sessions of our meetings in a greater degree of accuracy and fairness than has usually been the case.

And, as president of our organization, I wish to say that we especially appreciate the generous and friendly co-operation of The Glendale Evening News in giving publicity to the work of our great organization of young Christians.

Convention Sidelights

B. Irvin Valentine, retiring president of the convention, declared The Evening News handled the big gathering perfectly, both from a news and pictorial standpoint. Thanks.

Dwight W. Stephenson made the address of welcome at the opening of the C. E. convention. It was a cordial and sincere speech of welcome, but it was short and to the point. Dwight says that a speech should be like that much maligned article, the modern woman's gown; that is long enough to cover everything necessary, but short enough to be interesting.

Al Dingle, grand marshal of the C. E. parade, and who capered here and there on horseback, is taking his meals standing up for the present.

What goes up must come down. They are looking for volunteer carpenters to tear down the C. E. auditorium. John Brown is going to use it in Los Angeles.

A pleasant aftermath to the C. E. convention comes in the announcement of the Glendale committee that there are sufficient funds on hand to meet all of the expenses incurred in handling this event. It is a usual occurrence for the committee having charge of the conventions in the various cities to come out with a deficit which has to be made up by making a round of the merchants and asking for contributions. It is said that this is the first time in the history of C. E. conventions where such a course has not been followed.

A. L. Baird, chairman of the finance committee, took an active part in the raising of funds, and arranging for the pre-convention concert, which netted a tidy sum for entertainment purposes.

With the Christian Endeavor convention a thing of the past Glendale is having an opportunity of taking stock and seeing just what advantages accrue from acting as host to a large delegation of strangers from all parts of the state.

First of all there was the advertising value. Gratified at the cordiality of their reception and the efforts put forth in behalf of their comfort, these people are going home singing the praises of Glendale. Their eyes have been opened to the beauties and advantages of this rapidly growing little metropolis. Many copies of the Glendale News have been sent to friends and taken home as souvenirs of the occasion by the delegates of themselves.

The coming of this convention opened the eyes of business men to the need of a first-class hotel here, and as reported exclusively in The Evening News, plans are now under way for the erection of a thoroughly modern hotel. That this convention is but a step in the right direction and that strenuous effort should be made to secure more of the many gatherings of this sort that are held in Southern California is the consensus of many residents of Glendale.

An unprecedented trade has been reported by the merchants during the last week. Many boxes of Kaighin's candies have been taken home as mementoes of an enjoyable meeting, while expressions of delight over Sierra Club fingerate has been heard on the streets during the warm days when a cooling drink was enjoyed in the different ice cream parlors. The restaurants throughout the city state that they fed capacity crowds during the entire convention week. This in face of the fact that preparations had been made by the women of the various churches to feed the delegates at especially erected cafeterias. The sale of gasoline was over double, there being several hundred visiting autos in town for the week, and the owners of the general merchandise stores report tip-top business.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS PLEDGING AID IN MORAL FIGHTS

More Clean Motion Pictures
Are Sought; Volstead Act
Enforcement Urged

As exclusively stated in yesterday's Glendale Evening News, the resolution committee of the Christian Endeavor last night submitted a set of resolutions, pledging the organization to take a strong stand upon moral and religious questions of the day.

After resolutions of thanks and appreciation for the manner in which they had been entertained while in Glendale had been passed, the society pledged itself in behalf of motion picture censorship, state enforcement of the Volstead act, prohibition of the sale of cigarettes to minors, aid for the Armenians, and strenuous warfare in behalf of Christianity. The resolutions in full are as follows:

City Is Thanked

"We, the California Christian Endeavor Union, appreciate to the fullest possible extent the courtesy and hospitality of the beautiful city of Glendale and wish to publicly thank the city officials and through them all the citizens of Glendale who have had any part in making our stay so pleasant. Especially do we want to say to our loyal ex-state president, Howard Brown, and his Convention Committee of Glendale District that they have proven themselves masters of convention management and we thank them most heartily.

This convention and the state union of Christian Endeavor desire to take a decided stand against the unlimited manufacture and sale of cigarettes to minors and pledge our loyal support to the plans already under consideration by several of our leading christian denominations.

VOTERS BALLOT ON PACIFIC AVENUE ANNEXATION

Petition Is Being Circulated For Territory West Of
Brand Boulevard

Today is election day—in the Pacific avenue annexation district, a strip of territory between the recently annexed Grand View section of the city and Casa Verdugo. There are about sixty voters to determine whether they will be citizens of Glendale.

A petition is being circulated for the annexation of a district immediately west of Brand boulevard and north of the Verdugo wash which will take in Park, Melrose and a portion of Dryden streets, Casa Verdugo, according to City Manager T. W. Watson.

This joins the Viola street district which will vote on the question of annexation on July 14. Another petition is before the board of trustees for the calling of an election at which another effort will be made by residents of Scholl canyon and part of Sycamore canyon to get into Glendale.

Increase Population Rapidly
With each district annexed the new residents add to the 20,000 population just that much more rapidly and will aid in making Glendale one of Los Angeles' most populous suburbs. The hall was elaborately decorated with great bunches of yellow crape and English ivy and into this beautiful golden setting the wedding procession marched at 8 o'clock. Frank Milligan, who came from Washington with his family to attend the wedding, led the procession, carrying a beautiful flag. There followed Mrs. Milligan's niece and Mr. Milligan, then Dr. C. R. Norton. Frank Milligan's two little daughters were flower girls, escorting the bride who was beautifully gowned in white silk. The ceremony, performed by Dr. Norton, emphasized that the fifty years of wedded happiness was a gift of God to the happy pair.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple were escorted to the dining room, which also glowed with yellow flowers and ivy, a delicious supper was served there, the color scheme being carried out in the cakes and ice. During the social evening Mrs. Charles Peckham sang "Loves Old Sweet Song."

Good Government League Gives Out Public Statement

The Good Government League today issued a public statement relative to the municipal election held Tuesday. The five candidates for city council endorsed by the league were successful and, therefore, the league considers that it has won a big victory, as the following statement shows:

The Good Government League wishes to thank the voters of Glendale for their support of the principles upheld by the League—principles of personal and religious liberty as guaranteed under the constitution; and for their evident approval and appreciation of CLEAN POLITI-CAL METHODS.

The League looks upon the election of its five candidates, against powerful opposition from two sides, as a clear demonstration of the merits and popularity of the principles it advocates, and the wisdom shown in the selection of its candidates.

The League feels that it has made a clean fight; that it has made good its contentions; and that from the fact that it has not stooped to the use of unfair, untruthful or slanderous methods in an effort to win, it has not only won a notable victory but it can now, in accordance with its original intentions, perpetuate itself as an organization.

GOOD GOVERNMENT LEAGUE.
G. D. HULL,
Secretary.

DANCES DELIGHT AT 7TH ANNUAL SOCIETY VAUDEVILLE PRESENTED BY PEARL KELLER SCHOOL PUPILSTollfree Children's Orchestra Opens Program Featuring Talented Glendale Kiddies; Same Performance Will Be Seen Again This Evening

The seventh annual society vaudeville to be presented by pupils of the Pearl Keller school took place last night at the studio, 109-A North Brand boulevard, with every available seat occupied, and another performance will be given tonight. To describe the dances of the children, you would have to conjure pictures of fairies, story book folk and vande-ville artists in miniature, for the little folks were all of these and more, too. The costuming of all who took part in the performance was indeed very elaborate, with tarlatan and silks predominating, and all very brilliant in trimmings of spangles.
Draperies of midnight blue made a very effective background for the brilliant costumes.

The first number was a group of five orchestral pieces by the talented Tollfree children of Culver City—John, Lester, Reginald and Helen, the latter being 12 years of age and the oldest. The mother of these children is a widow and Prof. E.
Ford of Culver City has been training them in their musical work, and Miss Keller has been training the little girl so that they may be able to secure engagements and thereby assist in helping maintain their home. Last night was the first time they have appeared professionally and they instantly made a favorable impression as was evidenced by the repeated encores.

Kiddies in Graceful Dances

The curtains were then drawn, revealing the following group of children in graceful postures, who upon the first note of music joined in dancing "Narcissus." Juanita Fifield, Betty Glade, Catherine Galer, Jean
Williams, Marion Ballard, Genevieve Marek, Helen Orr, Bernice Smith.

The next number was a group of two planologues by Cora Frenz Dunn, which were very enjoyable.

Another charming group was given by the following little folks: Doris Lee Brownell, Maurine Burke, Joan
Everson, Gladys Michel, Jeanne Studer, Frances Dunlap, Laura Walter, Jacqueline Young, Doris Bradley, Ruth Reimiller.

The tiniest of all the little artists, Baby Tone, quite captivated the hearts of the audience by doing a solo dance.

Little Marguerite Chase, attired in school-girl fashion, with checkered gingham apron and sunbonnet and carrying a slate sang "You Can't Guess What He Wrote on My Slate." As an encore she sang "I Love the Old Doll Best."

The next number was a very clever dance by Geraldine Keleher.

Gould Moore, in sailor's costume, gave two very excellent song and dance numbers, one of which combined the sailor's hornpipe and a South Sea Island dance.

Gabrielle Bondeau, dressed very much like a wood nymph in costume of red made brilliant with spangles, was very lovely in a solo dance.

Dainty Ethelwyne Kent gave two very cute recitations, one of which was "Sister" and the other "The Little Girl With the Curls."

Spanish Dance Applauded

One number which brought forth continued applause was the Spanish dance by Doris Lee Brownell, who is so tiny. She wore an appropriate costume made from a Spanish shawl, with red skirt and Spanish mantilla, with a tambourine as a finishing touch. Her interpretation of the Spanish twist was indeed very clever.

Cecilia Mae Fischer of Burbank, who played the leading part in "The Little Princess," did a toe dance,
"The Dragon Fly," attired in a very striking and beautiful costume of blue silk with dragon's fly wings.

Evelyn Hunt, accompanied by her sister, Leona Hunt, at the piano, gave a splendid musical reading,
"You Can't Pick Plums From My Plum Tree."

A very graceful solo dance, "The Crystal," was given by Shirley Hitchcock.

Dorothy Dutton in Minuette
The next number was by Dorothy

Dutton, a protegee of Miss Keller's who is preparing herself to become a dancing teacher. Miss Dutton is a very charming girl of 14 years, and has made remarkable progress along the lines of fancy and interpretative dancing under the direction of Miss Keller. A very effective costume of black and white, with white wig, was worn by Miss Dutton in her solo dance, "Humoresque" minuet.

The next number, one which any vaudeville show might be proud of having, was presented by the Turner Sisters, who presented two song and dance numbers, exhibiting their skill at both these accomplishments.

All of the other numbers were equally good and included the following:

Marjory Hart, wearing a vivid red tarlatan costume with spangled bodice, in a toe dance.

Shirley Virginia Bennett did nicely in a solo dance.

Merna Kennedy, in costume of pastel tarlatan, exhibited unusual skill in a very difficult solo dance.

Indian Dance in Woodlands

An Indian dance, with appropriate woodland setting, was interpreted by Julia Pelley, assisted by Gould Moore.

Howard Kent gave two very clever recitations.

Glen Hitchcock, in a very unique costume, delighted those present with an eccentric dance.

The next number was a group dance, "The Storm," by Dorothy Dutton, Shirley Hitchcock, Vivien
Nay, Merna Kennedy, Pauline Berry,
Marie Hearnshaw, Marjory Hart,
Clara Clark and Evelyn Hunt.

Skaters Dance in Costume

A very attractive dance was given by Cecilia Mae Fischer, "The Skater's Dance," with costume of white satin trimmed with maribou fur.

Ann Elizabeth Wilkinson, a very talented little girl, displayed unusual grace in her interpretation of the "Bow and Arrow Dance."

Elizabeth Turner, in pink silk and tarlatan ballet costume, did a very clever toe dance.

The last number of this most excellent program was "The Gypsy Dance," by two groups of dancers, as follows: First group, Marie

Hearnshaw, Emma Laura Cooper,
Pauline Berry, Marjory Hart, Evg-lyn Hunt, Dorothy Salyer, Shirley Hitchcock; second group, Dorothy Dutton, Glen Hitchcock, Merna Kennedy, Leona Hunt, Julia Pelley, Clara Clark, Vivien Nay, Grace Dewar and Cecilia Mae Fischer.

The numbers presented by the advanced pupils will be presented again tonight. Other numbers on this evening's program will include the following:

"Old-Fashioned Garden" Pleases Song and Dance—"The Old-Fashioned Garden," Gabrielle Bondeau, Mary Phillips, Eleanor Thompson,
Mildred Thompson, Patricia Carline,
Margaret Baruch, Mary Elizabeth

George, Beryl Campbell, Virginia
Wolfe, Mary Alice Barton, Muriel Curtis and Truman Curtis; recitation by Stanley Phillips, solo dance by Evelyn Mitchell, recitation by Gladys Michel, Dutch dance by Mary Alice Barton, bird dance by Blossom
Moore, solo dance by Juanita Fifield, musical reading, "Eccentric," by Grace Yarbrough, and a "Gypsy Dance" by Elizabeth Turner, Beatrice Turner, Nellie Aleshire, Ann Elizabeth Wilkinson, Dorothy Jane
Godfrey, Virginia Clark, Katherine Sonntag, Rosanita Ruggiero, Bos-son Moore, Helen Evelyn and Genevieve Marek.

Mrs. J. A. Wright and Mrs. L. N.
Hagood furnished piano accompaniment for most of the numbers. Some of the dancers presented their numbers to rhythm furnished by a victrola.

Miss Laura Cutler Is
Speaker Before Junior
C. E. Superintendents

The ladies of the Congregational church served one of their good lunches to the junior superintendents of the Christian Endeavor Wednesday noon. The prolonged meeting at the tabernacle shortened the affair considerably, but Miss Laura Cutler, who spoke to the eighteen superintendents present, was able to put her message into a few "straight to the point" words. The "Inward Look" was her theme.

"If the leaders of the young people cannot look into their own hearts and lives and find Christ there they cannot hope to lead the others into the right path," she said.

She warned them to watch lest they become so accustomed to being superintendents that they do their work as a routine and forget the preciousness of the souls of the children.

Capture Man Here Who Escaped County Jail

Thomas Connors, who was committed to the county jail on charges of burglarizing the rooms of Jesse Chambers and J. H. Pope above Pope & Tollett's confectionery store, escaped from the county jail this morning while employed as a trusty loading garbage.

Connors was captured at Broadway and Brand boulevard, Glendale, shortly before noon today by James L. Browne of the Glendale Patrol and Fire Dispatch after he had been informed by H. W. Hollenbeck, city sanitary inspector, that Desk Sergeant George Brewster was warning the police officers to be on the lookout for the man.

It is said that Connors came to Glendale to get his clothes and make his getaway. Before getting out of Los Angeles, however, it is believed that he had a "shot of dope" because he was taken violently ill at the police station in the city hall.

Connors served a term in prison, according to the sheriff's office, which likely will not give him a second opportunity to escape.

BIBLE STUDIES OF CONVENTION ARE INSPIRATIONAL

C. E. Convention Delegates Find Much Of Interest In Daily Conference

By W. F. TOWER
The Bible studies and conferences of the Christian Endeavor convention have been both an inspiration and education and, judging by the constant and increased attendance, have been appreciated by the young people. The Bible studies were of a deeply practical nature and were handled by eminent Bible scholars. The same was true of the general conferences along lines of "efficiency," "Lookout," "Hospital," "Recruit," "Press," "Citizenship" and "Army and Navy."

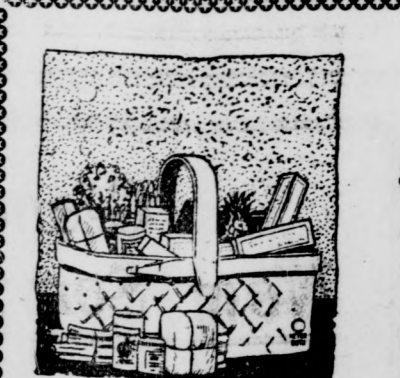

John Makins, superintendent of the San Pedro Seamen's Rest Mission, gave an interesting account of their work among the men of the navy, soldiers and the merchantmen. There are from 300 to 350 men at the fort, 1500 at the submarine base and more than 15000 when the battle ships are in the harbor. This mission is in their own home, which was purchased before values advanced. It is nearly all paid for. A large reading room is open throughout the day and at evening is used as a meeting place.

Hold Open Air Meetings
An open air meeting is held in front each night and brings in the young fellows on the street with no place to go. San Diego has a similar work.
Frank J. Thompson, connected with the United States naval air station gave an account of the good work accomplished. Services are held on sixty-five torpedo boats from 7 to 10 o'clock. Battle ships as high as ten services a day are held, consisting of prayer and testimony.

He urged the people to be friendly to the boys. Many of them homesick and some ten thousand miles from their homes, and many without any mail. They are hungry for a taste of home life. Not frills and fancy bills of fare, but just the every day life of the average home. Just put yourself, your son or your brother in their place. A kind word, an earnest heart—you can sometimes win them to a better life. Not denominationalism but the simple gospel is what they want.

Relates Experiences
Private Armin C. Morgan, N. P. D. Marine Barracks, Mare Island, also related his experience in the service. Andrew R. Schottky of Merced, superintendent of Citizenship, held a conference in the Baptist church and outlined a plan of activity for the Christian Endeavor. He divided the subject into two parts. First, community needs, such as public parks, playgrounds, rest rooms, swimming pools—Glendale is in line—Boy Scout movement, Y. M. C. A. support, etc. Second, service is to state and nation; by exercising the franchise; by assisting in preserving law and order; by upholding the constitution, including the eighteenth amendment; by discouraging the use of whatever harms the rising generation, such as tobacco, drugs, and other narcotics. Helping to create an environment that will tend to produce a better and cleaner civilization, capable of coping with the coming problems.

Municipal League's Candidates Promise Administration Aid

The Evening News is requested to publish the following:

To the Newly Elected Members of the Council of Glendale, Greeting—
Now that the heat of battle is over and the people have decided that you are to serve as councilmen under the new charter, we hasten to congratulate you and assure you that in the carrying out of every good thing of the city you shall have our heartiest co-operation and support. We realize that very many important projects are to be put through during your administration and the wise handling of these matters will require much deliberation and long hours of strenuous work, even with all the assistance you can secure from your constituency.

Even after you have striven hardest to do the very best thing for all the people you will be blamed and criticised for not doing more or differently. Viewing your position from this angle we feel that we, ourselves, are the subjects for congratulation. However, we feel sure that you will devote yourselves to the task and the results will be worth all your labor.

We rejoice that we have all agreed that public pool rooms are a menace and undesirable, and since that matter (which really called our organization into being), has been definitely settled, we feel that our defeat is not altogether inglorious.

With the vision of a wonderful future for Glendale built up and to be maintained under the motto "A Clean City Kept Clean," we subscribe ourselves as former candidates of the Municipal League.

In 1900 she was married to Sir George Cornwallis-West, whom she divorced in 1913. A handsome woman, gifted as a brilliant writer and conversationalist, Lady Churchill commanded great influence in political circles. Lady Churchill married Montague Perch in 1918.

PAGEANT PORTRAYS WORK OF JUNIOR ENDEAVORERS

Need Of Leaders Revealed By Rev. R. B. Dodge At C. E. Convention Session

By MARGARET SHARPE
Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock the Glendale Junior Christian Endeavorers marched into the tabernacle to the strain of "Onward Christian Soldiers," and by means of a very pretty pageant showed the visitors gathered there the work that is being accomplished by the boys and girls. First the tiny herald, Dunas Swanson, introduced a group of black garbed "glooms," representing "Indifference," "Ignorance," "I Can't," "Selfishness," "Too Busy" and "Criticisms." He urged that they open their eyes and ears and learn what the little ones can do. A tiny miss then walked forward and illustrated the child's "Quiet Hour," and following as the herald announced them, "The Tenth Legion," carrying great pennants; "Mission Study," lighting their little candles and carrying the light to the ignorant children of other lands; "Efficiency," illustrating the use of all the badges, books and other devices that are the tools of the junior worker; "Social," giving twelve beautiful parties, one for every month in the year. Having witnessed all these things the "Glooms" threw off their black robes and turned to "Joys," Interest, Knowledge, "I Will Try," Unselfishness, Take Time and "I Will Help."

Looking for Leaders
Rev. Rowland B. Dodge spoke for about ten minutes on the difficulty found in "Looking for Leaders." He made a distinct appeal to those who were suited for the work, but had not taken it up.

"The work of leading the Junior Christian Endeavor takes patience and the will to try and understand the boys and girls," he said.
"Too few people realize the large part these societies play in teaching the Scripture to the children and in providing a wholesome Christian social life for them. More mothers should have their own social clubs to keep the children interested in good things and to encourage them to look toward the church and find Jesus."

After the kiddies adjourned to the high school grounds to have their picture taken, four of the leaders made ten-minute presentations of their work. Miss Una G. Pine, speaking of prayer meetings, gave splendid suggestions for summer meetings, urging that the gatherings be kept up during the summer months. She suggested "Moonlight meetings," "Exchange of leaders," posters as a means of advertising and letters from distant friends. Every effort must be made to have a good song leader and pianist so the summer meetings will be "live" affairs.

Dr. White of the County Hospital answered all questions regarding his work and spoke especially of the help it was to him to know that the prayers of thousands went up for him every day. He said that the sick man was just as human as anyone else and must be approached in a human way if you would reach him.

Salute for Missionaries
Mrs. Garner Searl, missionary superintendent of the state union, first called all the missionaries present up to the platform to receive a salute and pointed out to the assembly the fact that the few cannot do all the work. The real missionary is the individual who backs up the worker who goes out into the foreign field. There are quite a number of missionaries among the conventionists, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rutledge are perhaps the best known, who sail for China in September. Others are Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Dye from Africa; Mr. and Mrs. Shelton, Tibet; Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, India; Anna Shields, sailing for China this fall; Mrs. Johnson, Africa; Rowland Dodge, Hawaii; Miss Stillians, New Mexico; Lela Sellers, South Africa, and Helen Skilling to China this fall.

The greeting of seventy-eight Life Recruits by Dr. Grace H. Sharp was a touching sight just after looking upon the missionaries. The young missionaries-to-be gathered on the platform and sang the hymn, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow."

Otis Ironmonger, in addressing them, said it might be that some of the biggest things in the history of missions would be due to the fact that they had dedicated themselves to life work at this convention. He prayed earnestly that they might be aided and protected in the great work they contemplated.

'Dear Katie' Learns C. E. Convention Has Gone Into History

GLENDAL E, June 30, 1921.
Dear Katie: Today it is quite important as how I should write a little review on the doings of the week, cause you know, Katie, there is always somebody as are bound to miss the big events of the day or night as the case is and if it wasn't for us strivin reporters gettin the news, nobody wouldn't ever know yet as how the war was over or as how there had been a war in the first place.

Well, Katie, on account of the C. E. convention bein had here this week I been so busy I ain't had no time to read the papers to see what it was all about. Anyway I just "Keep Rolling Along," cause I'm one of them kind that can't see the clouds, cause the sun is shinin in my eyes.

Last night the convention come to a close up and today everybody looks kinda tucked out, but happy. The convention tucked em out and they're happy cause it's all over with, I guess.

And today, them that generously give shelter to the visitors, is puttin the spare cot back into the garage and tonight they will have a chance to get acquainted with their own beds again.

Well, Katie, I didn't find out till today as how the city election has come and gone, but to tell you as how there's ever been a election a tall, is news in itself.

Everybody seems satisfied at the outcome (whatever that was) and them which aint satisfied might as well smile and be done with it, cause there ain't no sense in arguin about it.

Well, Katie, it begins to look like I don't get no more vacation this summer than Roy Gardner's goin to get and it's a cinch as how he ain't going nowhere. Ain't so Katie?

But the first hundred years is the hardest in a reporter's young life.

After that—

Yours for keeps,

E. C. HALE.

HOW DOES BIRD-SEED WORK?

A teacher was instructing her pupils in the use of the hyphen. Among the examples given by the children was "bird-cage."

"That's right," encouragingly. "Now, Tommy, tell me why we put a hyphen in 'bird-cage?'"

"It's for the bird to sit on," was the startling rejoinder.

Near East Relief

"The conditions growing out of the World War have brought suffering to the peoples of the whole world but especially is this true of Armenia, Persia and other parts of the near east and we pledge ourselves as a young people's christian organization, together with our alumni associations, to assist in alleviating these conditions and especially to assist the splendid organizations already organized to help these stricken peoples.

Loyalty to Denominations

"California Christian Endeavor is a composite organization made up of several denominations, all of who agree on fundamentals of true christianity and we as C. E. realize that in order to accomplish the greatest good we must be loyal first, last and all the time to our denominational activities, also do we realize that Christian Endeavor as a mighty force in christian warfare needs the loyalty of denominations and we urge upon them constant co-operation with us.

Against Indecent Pictures

"We deplore the present trend of moving pictures throughout our state and nation and pledge ourselves to active protest against the immoral and indecent pictures shown on a large number of screens and promise to do all in our power to better the situation during the coming year, hoping we may have the co-operation of better film organizations in each of our cities.

Eighteenth Amendment

"The Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, 'binds all legislative bodies, courts, public officers and individuals,' as the Federal Supreme Court has unanimously decreed; and 'WHEREAS, Opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment on the part of any state, or refusal to enforce this amendment, is an act of disloyalty, since the same greatest court of last resort in the world, our own Supreme Court of the United States, has also declared that the aim of the Eighteenth (Prohibition) Amendment is 'to unite national and state administrative agencies in giving effect to the amendment and the legislation of congress enacted to make it completely operative,' therefore

"RESOLVED, That we, the 4000 registered members of the State Convention of 1100 Christian Endeavor societies of California, hereby pledge ourselves to work and vote for and try to induce all other qualified Californians to vote for Assembly Bill 849, the right act, 'to enforce the provisions of Article 18 of the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States,' it being our conviction that refusal to support such a state law is essentially rebellion against our country and disobedience to our Christ.

Chairman.

Miss Lucile Tholen Gives Social Affair

The close of the social season in Glendale is being marked by a number of brilliant affairs, one of the most delightful of which was the bridge tea given yesterday afternoon by Miss Lucille Tholen of 819 South Brand boulevard at the Wilshire club, Los Angeles. A very effective color scheme of orange and blue was carried out in the floral decorations. Prizes for high score and low were awarded as follows: First prize at bridge, Miss Esther Loomis; consolation, Miss Blanche Davenport; first prize at 500, Mrs. Dwight Stephenson; consolation, Mrs. Jesse Joseph. Those who attended and enjoyed Miss Tholen's hospitality included the following guests: Mrs. John McKenzie Brown, Mrs. H. R. Boyer, Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Miss Blanche Davenport, Mrs. Leslie Eames, Miss Mayme Lee Evans, Mrs. Jesse Joseph, Mrs. Harry Lockwood, Miss Esther Loomis, Mrs. Harry Loomis, Miss Ella McDonald, Mrs. Belle Newell, Mrs. C. L. Peckham, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. M. Russell, Mrs. L. G. Sherman, M. S. Walter N. Stamp, Mrs. Dwight Stephenson, Mrs. C. H. Temple, Miss Wandell, Miss Dorothy Woods and the hostess, Miss Lucille Tholen.

William Jennings Bryan moves to Florida. What's the idea of a noted leader getting that close to Cuba?

BOSTON PASTOR IN ADDRESS BEFORE
C. E. DELEGATES

Rev. Hubert W. Gates, D. D., Speaker, Saying Church
Depends On Young

By W. F. TOWER

One of the brightest, most up-to-date and right to the point addresses of the Christian Endeavor convention was delivered by Rev. Hubert W. Gates, D. D., a distinguished Boston Congregational pastor. He represents the type of whom it is said: "You can tell a man from Boston but you can't tell him much." His subject was, "Our Congregational Heritage."

Right away he gave his hearers to understand that he was not a believer in worshipping the past or resting upon past laurels. He said: "I have very little use for the traditions of the past, not much concerned in old things except as they can be of present day use. Keep an open mind, try and test and hold to that which is good."

"The bane of New England is being bound by tradition and custom. Forever doing things just as our reverend ancestors did. Sometimes it may be true, as in the case of the Irishman who had listened to a long tale of his friend's ancestors, until finally he interrupted by asking: 'Begorra, let me be asking you, is it bragging or apologizing that ye be after?'"

It Must Be Genuine

"I believe in an aristocracy, but it must be genuine. The aristocracy of the best and doing the best; that of service. Christ taught that kind and held up the good samaritan as a model of aristocracy—true friendship. Speaking of the good samaritan, I am reminded of the boy's answer when his teacher asked why did the priest and Levite pass by on the other side and disregard the unfortunate travelers. 'Because,' said the boy, 'He was already robbed and had nothing left.'"

"I presume you have heard the question and answer, 'Why should North America prosper and succeed so far in advance of South America,' and the answer is: 'The men who settled New England came seeking God and the opportunity of worshipping Him unmolested, while the men who came to South America came in quest of gold.' And God put His stamp of approval on these men who, like Abraham, were seeking a new land—a larger life, a more perfect liberty."

Must Be of Service

"The failure to be of service is a serious proposition. Christ emphasizes it in his parable of the fig tree and others. Did you ever stop to consider it is natural for youth to be busy—to be of use."

"I have very little patience with some of the age limits. The man who is not afraid to undertake the hard tasks and even take a venture if need be is not an old man notwithstanding his years. Even if 60. While he who is afraid of the hard task and is fearful to take a venture is old if only 16."

"The future of the church is in the hands of young people and I plead to give them a chance. In the plans as well as in the work a class of boys were kept purposely without a teacher for two Sundays with request that they spend that time in suggesting plans for the future work. They did it and more than 50 per cent of plans were adopted and boys heartily entered into the work. He urged them to consecrate themselves to the hard tasks of studying and fitting themselves for the difficult and needed work ahead. To the value of daily life testimony and every day opportunity."

Miss Alma Williams

Dinner And Dance At Claude Putnam Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Putnam of 424 North Glendale avenue was the scene of a brilliant social affair Tuesday night when the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club entertained their husbands and friends at a dinner and dance.

The tables were decorated with yellow and white daisies and blue candles, the same scheme being carried out throughout the entire house and large veranda, where ferns and electric lanterns made a very attractive setting.

Music was furnished by a four-piece orchestra during the dinner and dance which followed. Punch was served during the evening to the fifty or more guests present.

Members of the club who were hostesses at this delightful affair included Mrs. Claude Putnam, Mrs. Charles Carroll, Mrs. E. E. East, Mrs. F. J. Rogers, Mrs. Harry H. Powers, Jr., Mrs. Frank George, Mrs. Frank Pease of Los Angeles, Miss Elma Mess, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Charles Meadows and Mrs. J. Elston of Los Angeles.

New Fox Picture Is Palace Grand Feature

Buck Jones and his cowpunchers who will be at the Palace Grand Theatre today in "Firebrand Trevison," a new Fox play, got into their native element when they went to the Verde ranch near Victorville, Cal., to film this story written by Charles Alden Seltzer and directed by Thomas N. Heffron, one of the new directors on the Fox West Coast staff. They found John Grier, owner of the ranch, busy rounding up 6,500 head of cattle.

"No work today," said Buck to his director. "I need the exercise, and so do these boys. We have not helped in a round-up for such a long time that the regular 'hand' on a ranch will begin to think we are nothing but motion picture cowpunchers."

With that he was off with "Slim" Padgett, Gene Fency and a half dozen others. They rode ten miles into the mountains on this great ranch, which covers 35,000 acres, and they gave the owner much help in getting his cattle together. The first day they were out they brought in 100 head.

Fatty Arbuckle in "Out West," his great two-reel comedy portraying the comic side of ranch life, makes this bill one of the wildest and most woolly to be seen here in months. Of course, Nils Gilliam will see that the orchestra provides music equal to the picture.

THE DRAWBACK

Patience—How would you like to go for your honeymoon in an airplane?

Patience—Not me—I should hate to miss the tunnels.

Glendale Theatre Has Noted Novel Picturized

When watching a thrilling outdoor adventure picture in which dangerous wild animals act, as they do in Benjamin B. Hampton's splendid photoplay of Zane Grey's novel, "The Man of the Forest," the newest Hodgkinson release which is shown at the Glendale Theatre again today, have you ever wondered how these animals were handled while being filmed?

In "The Man of the Forest," a bear and a puma, or mountain lion, are used. Both puma and bear figure in many scenes of the picture, and the big "cat" especially required careful handling. Of course its trainer, Charles Murphy, was present. Mr. Murphy, who also acts a part in the picture, is a noted animal trainer who under a colorful Italian name once held forth with lions, tigers and panthers in the Orpheum Circuit and with Barnum & Bailey.

Carl Gantvoort, in the title role as "Mitt Dale," has to handle both animals before the camera, and this is his first experience of the sort. Claire Adams, the beautiful heroine of the story, also has scenes with them, and so do other players.

Harold Lloyd is funnier than usual in "Among Those Present," his newest release. The special organ numbers have a soothing effect on the nerves these warm days, patrons declare, as they watch the pictures in a theatre 20 degrees cooler than the street.

An aquiline nose indicates high mindedness.
